Now at CinemaWell.com, users may open a virtual cinema theater and/or simply watch movies and other video content. Try out version 1 now for free! (Our redesigned version will be available late April 2018.) For a quick video overview for viewers, watch youtu.be/c7Dq6KO9lJU. Filmmakers, please watch youtu.be/nFUz9sqn6oM. You may watch a short demonstration of our prototype for version 2 at youtu.be/7HbO9w6PlxA.

Filmmaking is not just for big production companies anymore! Prices have dropped on equipment for shooting, producing, and editing films, opening possibilities for thousands of new filmmakers around the globe! In 2017 alone, over 6.4 million viewers enjoyed almost 70,000 independent films. Real-world cinemas cannot possibly grow to support the exploding volume of independent films being created worldwide.

Naturally, major production companies control which films ever reach an audience. It's hard for viewers to find independent films, and it's hard for filmmakers to find audiences.

Sadly, most films never reach audiences.

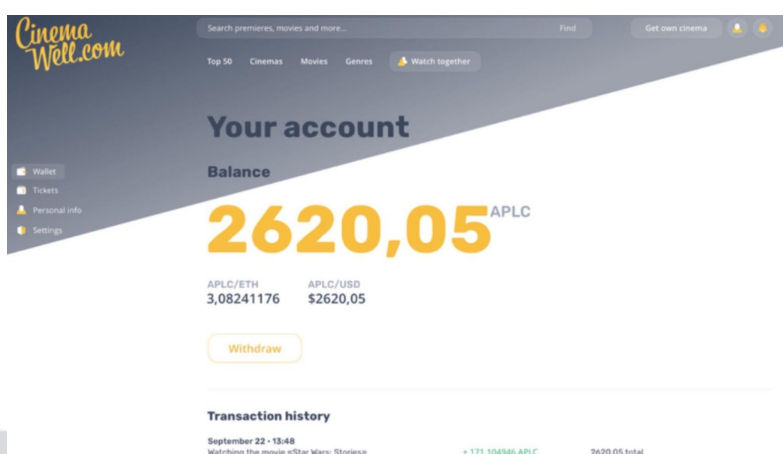

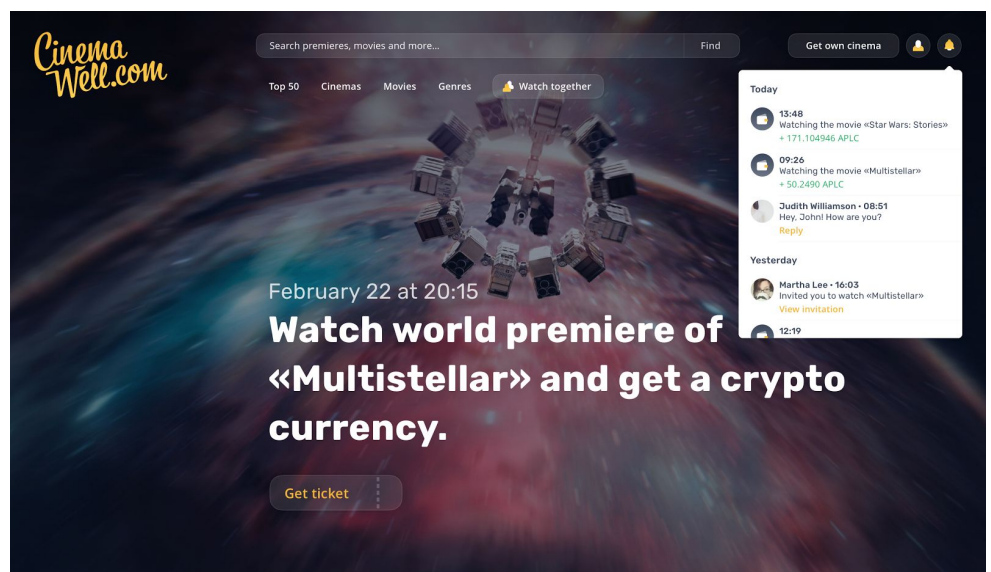

Content that can be shared includes much more than independent films. In just 30 days, more video content is uploaded to the web than all content shown on television in the past 30 years! Of course, these are not all full-length films. Online video content also includes concerts, festivals, theatrical plays, sport events, seminars, training, news, rallies, and so much more. All of this content can be shared with worldwide audiences using CinemaWell.com.

CinemaWell.com brings the cinema of the future through Internet Video Co-Viewing (IVCV), a new way of distributing video, which allows an unlimited number of online users to gather together and view the same content in one virtual theater. The IVCV experience is far superior to traditional independent viewing experience offered by platforms such as YouTube and Vimeo.

CinemaWell.com is the first network of online cinemas with many great social features.

CinemaWell.com gives users a unique opportunity to be part of the new age of distributing movies, viewing films with thousands of other viewers, going to a cinema with friends even when they are far away! Best of all, registration is free, and users actually get paid ApplauseCash (APLC) for using CinemaWell.com!
